

The Pageland Journal

Published Wednesday Mornings

C. M. Tucker, Proprietor

Subscription Price - $1.00

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Pageland, S. C., under Postal Act of March 3, 1879.

December 8, 1915

It is no longer stylish to get drunk at Christmas.

Again we call attention to the fact that the prohibition law which becomes effective January 1, 1916 does not prohibit the shipment of liquor to individuals. You can still get your gallon every thirty days just as you have been doing, so what is the idea in ordering in your name and in the other fellow's too? Can't you observe the Lord's birthday with a gallon?

The deluge of whiskey circulars is not all in vain. Go down to the depo' when the liquor is being unloaded and you may see that some of the good old amen corner brethren have their names there. Six or more circulars a day to the man seem like overdoing the thing but then you know a gallon of rot gut doesn't cost the manufacturer much, and he can afford to spend lots of money on circulars. Then, too, this is about the only way to get to the people since the papers quit taking liquor advertisements.

Some one has said that there is no such thing as bad weather, just different kinds of good weather. That must have been "different" weather from Saturday afternoon until Monday morning.

UNION COUNTY NEWS

Clipped From Our Exchanges and put into Paragraphs for The Busy Reader

Mr. J. M. Hough and son Mr. DeWitt Hough, have moved from Lancaster, S. C., to their farm in Buford township. These gentlemen are fine citizens and receive a warm welcome into the neighborhood into which they have moved.

The County Commissioners have ordered an election on the proposed road law for this county to be held on February 5th.

Mrs. Nora Crook, of Buford township, underwent an operation in a hospital in Charlotte a few days ago. She is improving.

The Faulks Sunday school will visit the Philadelphia school Sunday, December 12th at 10 o'clock. There will be singing and other exercises. The public is invited.

Mr. Clifford Griffin, of Buford township, was seriously hurt Saturday by a tree that was being felled striking him on top of the head. A long gash was cut and the blow was so great that the injured young man was unconscious for some time.

A number of citizens of Cabarrus county want to know where a man is who went through the country a few days ago buying turkeys. The turkey buyer gave good prices—he could afford to pay a big price for them—for he paid with checks that represented nothing but a scrap of paper. He took his turkeys to market, sold them and got the money and then he skipped out. One man sold the rascal eighty dollars worth of turkeys and all he has to show for those fine birds is a check not worth the paper on which it's written.

QUITE SUITABLE.

"This article says some man has discovered a use for dogfish."
"I guess it's to use them as pet on barks."

Dress Goods should be bought from Mungo Bros.

ANY DYES AT OUR SERVICE

Nothing Off of European Supply Need Not Cripple the Country, is the Assertion Made.

Now that the supply of coal-tar dyes from Europe has been cut off, the Hardwood Record suggests that return to the dyes that were used before coal-tar colors were invented. These were derived from bark, roots, and the juices of plants. The Hardwood Record gives a list of the most important native plants that are so used and that are still open to us.

The yellow oak supplies a fine yellow dye called quercitron, found in a thin layer under the outer bark.

The butternut gives a brown with which the famous Confederate "jeans" were dyed.

The outer hulls of the nuts of the black walnut furnish a dark brown.

The roots, bark and wood of the osage orange produce a fine yellow. Other yellows can be made from the yellow wood, mesquit and staghorn sumac.

The Indians used alder wood for making a reddish dye.

By boiling the finely chipped heartwood of the bluewood a black dye is produced in the valley of the Rio Grande.

The brilliant red with which the Indians tinted their eagle feathers and buckskin garments was made from dogwood.

Red gum and locust wood were used also by the pioneers in America, and the vivid yellow of Chinese silks is made from a tree similar to the locust.

EQUAL TO IT

She—Does Brushen Palette, your artist friend, have many commissions?

He—Had one last month. His father asked him to paint his barn.

ENLIGHTENING A NEIGHBOR.

One warm morning the funny man was discovered on his back porch doing the tontorial act with his little safety.

"Hello!" called his neighbor. "I see you are shaving on the outside for a change!"

"I always shave on the outside, because that's where my whiskers grow," answered the funny man, "and not for a change, but in order to save a little change. See?"

MEET ME AT

Mungo Brothers

MONEY--does not grow on trees, but it does grow in banks. A 500 pound bale of cotton at present price will earn you $23.43 in eight years. Bank of Pageland.

Buy your salt from C. L. Gullidge at Guess. He buys it in car loads. 12

Thank You

This is to thank my patrons for their patronage and for their prompt payment. There is not a dollar on my books uncollected. This is a splendid showing, and we are very thankful to all. B. Smith

LAND TO SELL

We have several farms to sell and can make easy terms, and the prices are WAR PRICES

WE CAN ONLY MENTION A FEW, AS FOLLOWS:-

One 50 acre Farm, 6 miles north of Pageland, 2 horse farm open, good dwelling, good water and an ideal farm all round. Level and in good neighborhood. This can be had at a bargain.

One 120 acre Farm, one and one half mile South of Marshville, 3 or 4 horse farm (already rented) good dwelling and barns, lasting water. Hog and cattle pasture.

One 130 acre Farm in the Dudley neighborhood fine land, good water, 1-4 mile from church. A bargain for quick buyer.

One 4 room house and 2 lots on Pearl Street at a bargain. See us quick.

One 8 room house and 2 lots on Maple Street near the bank, at a bargain.

Pageland Insurance and Realty Co.

A. F. FUNDERBURK, Mgr.

BE

sure and see us before purchasing your presents

for the trees.

A nice line of Holiday boxes, paper, ribbon and a variety of suitable presents to go in them.

T. E. CATO

CHRISTMAS Goods Opened

We can't name them to you for lack of space

We have Christmas presents to suit both the grown folks and the children.

Don't Wait Until Xmas

week to see them, for you can buy more satisfactory before the rush-

Beginning with the 15th. we will give every customer a pretty 1916 calender.

Pageland Hardware Company

TOYS OF ALL KINDS

TOYS OF ALL KINDS